

New Subsidence Notifications
22 August 2006

Following a hot, dry June and the July heatwave, subsidence claim notifications have steadily increased.

This is consistent with past experience of the effects of hot, dry weather and notifications are expected to remain high for several weeks to come.

However, incidents of new damage will reduce with the return of cooler weather and as autumn approaches.